

Checklist for Implementing Separate Consents

Of

General Motors (China) Privacy Policy

Effective Date: November 1st, 2023

In accordance with national and local laws and regulations, we need to obtain your separate consent for the handling of personal information in specific personal information processing situations or in personal information processing activities that may have a significant impact on personal rights and interests. This list covers situations in which your separate consent is required when you use our products and services. We will constantly update this list according to the changes in laws and regulations and in our processing activities, as well as relevant complaints and suggestions received.

Before you consent separately, please read the General Motors (China) Privacy Policy and notes for relevant situations in this list. You may check the boxes for specific items that you consent separately in this list. Each item in this form is independent and does not affect each other.

If you refuse to give or withdraw separate consents to items listed, other service scenarios or processing purposes outside the scope of the separate consent will not be affected. However, the service scenario for which the separate consent is targeted will not continue to be used.

1. PROCESSING SENSITIVE PERSONAL INFORMATION

In the course of providing you with products and services, we may collect sensitive personal information from you, which is the personal information necessary for us to provide this particular item of service. Once your sensitive personal information is leaked or illegally used, it may easily lead to the infringement of your personal dignity or endangerment of your personal and property safety. We attach great importance to the security of your sensitive personal information. We will take all reasonable and feasible measures to ensure the security of your sensitive personal information.

The following table shows how we deal with your sensitive personal information and for which we will obtain your separate consent from you:
